

Special Religious Education at Chatswood High and Willoughby Girls High

supported by the combined local Christian churches of all denominations

REACH was founded by the Combined Churches of Willoughby to provide SRE to students at Chatswood High and Willoughby Girls High Schools.

Hundreds of year 7 to 12 students at our two local high schools attend. REACH is the largest and most far reaching ministry of the churches in Willoughby and has been in operation for over 20 years.

Why is REACH important?

REACH is about connecting with the local community, forming relationships, and having the unique opportunity to share God's love with hundreds of students on a regular basis.

REACH offers a co-ordinated approach to SRE teaching in our two schools. This, and the long term relationships developed are beneficial for students, the schools and the churches.

Donations $2 and over are tax deductible

REACH's work is financed by gifts from churches and individuals. 100% of money donated goes to REACH ministry, and donations are tax deductible. No money is received from the Government.

In NSW public schools, up to 1 hour per week of Special Religious Education (SRE, also commonly known as 'scripture') is recognised by the State Government as an integral component of a public school's activities.

REACH is overseen by a Board, comprising representatives from supporting churches. It endeavours to present the Christian faith to students in an educationally and culturally appropriate way, employing professionally trained teachers.

REACH assists young people in developing a sense of values, and in providing an important foundation as they seek meaning and purpose in their lives.
